The appropriate extension fee under 37 CFR 1.17(a) is calculated from: (1) the expiration date of the shortened statutory period for reply originally set in the final Office action; or (2) as set forth in (b) above, if checked. Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of the final rejection, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b). U.S. Patent and Trademark Office PTOL-303 (Rev. 4-05) Continuation of 3. NOTE: The proposed amendments raise new issues and would require further consideration because applicant failed to properly identify the reference numerals for a pressurizing means and a force applying means in claim 1; a pressure regulator means and a pressurizing means in claims 7. Additionally, the Examiner requested clarification as to whether the pressure regulator means in claim 7 and the pressure responsive valve in claim 1 are the element or difference elements. Applicant was unable to clarify these objections. An example of confusion would be the response filed on 8/10/04, where applicant indicates that a force applying means is (133), however, applicant indicated the force applying means to be (123) in a teleconference on 5/12/05. The Examiner attempted to clarify these issues with applicant's attorney; however, he was unable to verify the elements with the proper reference numerals. Applicant indicated that he may file and RCE to clarify any remaining issues. These objections are one of the specification, claims and/or drawings. The previous objections in the last office action pertain to the entire disclosure.
